

Senior Business Analyst / Management Accountant

The Royal Women's Hospital is Australia's leading specialist and tertiary hospital based in the Parkville precinct.

Reporting to the Finance Manager, the Senior Business Analyst is responsible for leadership and operational management of the Royal Women's Hospital Business Analysis team. Furthermore, this role looks after the provision of financial and business management advice to Directors and Managers and their direct reports that is consistent with both good accounting/business practice and the strategic direction of our hospital.

Located within the RWH Finance Department, the successful individual will focus on the provision of financial and business management advice to internal customers whilst contributing to the achievement of the department goals and objectives.

The successful candidate will be CA or CPA qualified, possess strong budgeting, internal reporting and analytical skills, excellent interpersonal and communication skills, and strong system skills.

On offer is an extensive range of staff benefits including on-site subsidised car-parking, salary sacrifice options, competitive salary, career progression opportunities and much more.

Relevant experience in the public health sector is desirable but not essential.
